Had left Ohio with "another woman," in 1828, abandoning his family there. He came to the consultation as a delegate from Nacogdoches. The council impeached Governor Smith and Robinson assumed to act until the convention met in March. After the convention he joined Houston's army and fought as a private at San Jacinto. He wrote President Burnet that Dr. Harrison had been cut to pieces on a log like a mess of pork.

"The Minds County Gazette"
Raymond, Miss.

December 7, 1849

Departed this life recently in Greene County, Miss., Mr. Berry Robinson, a soldier of the Revolution, aged 96 years.

Such is the announcement that tells us another of the veterans of '76 has sought his long home, where the thunder of the cannons and the din of war will be heard no more. This with pain that we notice the passing away of the old soldiers - Washington's Pillars - Freedoms's Supporters. In the death of Mr. Robinson we feel that America has lost one of her elder sons - liberty a true friend. But six days previous to his death, Mrs. Robinson, the wife of the deceased was summoned from this world, to unite, we trust, with the countless throngs, which forever makes heaven's arches ring with the praise of God. She was 87 years of age.

EDDINGTON'S HISTORY OF
FAIRFIELD COUNTY
SOUTH CAROLINA

A manuscript history published in the News & Herald, a newspaper of Winnsboro, Fairfield County, South Carolina, in installments, on the dates as indicated with each installment herein.

The original newspapers file containing this history may be found in the SOUTH CAROLINIANA LIBRARY, Columbia, S.C. At this time they are very fragile, and some parts of the papers are missing. So far as I know, the complete file does not exist elsewhere, and soon these will be too old to handle. If by typing and binding these records I have preserved for posterity data that might otherwise be lost to them, then I am amply rewarded.

THE FEASTERS AND COLEMANS

Part # 3

News & Herald, Winnsboro, S.C., Friday, May 24, 1901.

David Wright moved off to Jug Tavern, Ga., where he died. William Wright married a daughter of "Cage" Mobley. (Gemmah Mobley) . His eldest daughter married Jonathan McLane.

Many of the Hills were known by nick-names, such as "Varment Dick", "Stump Bill", He was a Mobley, "Londree Bill" Hill, "Ly-down", etc. These names were given from certain peculiarities of manner, character, or habits of the man. Where Moses Clowney now lives (and he, Moses, was not an old-timer, is now one of the staunchest citizens of that township,) there lived years ago William Robinson, known as "Boiled Meat Billy." His house was a great resort for those who loved to dance and enjoy themselves. Four of his sons lived here after they were grown, Billy, Willis, Nat and John. The eldest girl married "Guber" Dye; one married John Hancock, and the youngest, Rebecca, married James Gaston, but did not live long. Mr. Gaston then married a daughter of Nathan Parrot. There were then several families of Shirleys. Hatter John or "Lying John" as he was called when he would tell an unaccountable tale, and when doubts were expressed by anyone, he would defend himself by saying, "If it is a lie, Ned Means told it, for he told me." Ned Means was noted for his veracity, and Shirley thought no one would doubt for a moment what he said. "Sugar" John Shirley was just the opposite. He was a miller and shoemaker. His only son was killed in the war. Martin Beam, who is a grandson of his, is now overseer of Feasterville Grange. Mirron Shirley was not bright, and he used to create some amusement by his sing-song way of telling things.

There was a large family of Meltons that lived on Beaver Creek on land now owned by James Turner. I should have mentioned while on the Meadow side of the township, Major William Seymour; he was a leading man, taught singing school when the old Southern Harmony was used. He was major in the militia, and came very near being elected sheriff at the time Emmett Ellison was elected. The Major was second best, and they had one of the very strongest men in the county as a competitor, James Johnston, who was ordinary just as long as he wished to be. Seymour moved to Randolph County, Alabama, and he is now dead. His wife was a sister of Andrew McConnell.

I omitted at the proper place that Wiley and Henry J. Coleman were both hatters. They made such everlasting hats that it was impossible to wear them out; they had to be thrown away if you wished to rid yourself of them.

Liberty Church was built by those of the Universalist faith, and it was intended as its name indicates, for the use of any and every denomination that was disposed to worship in it. There were others who also contributed to the building besides Universalists.

As Bourguiba Urges Talks

NEW YORK, N. Y. (UPI) — When the Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba broke the solid front of Arab leadership and called for peace talks with Israel he drew the expected shower of abuse from other Arab states led by the United Arab Republic.

In Cairo, Baghdad, Damascus and Beirut demonstrations erupted outside Tunisian embassies.

Said the Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar:

"Bourguiba has gone mad and deserves to be shot."

A Beirut newspaper called him the "Judas of the Arabs."

This week, before the Israeli parliament, Israel Premier Levi Eshkol returned Bourguiba's compliment.

"Without giving way to premature optimism," he said, "we are entitled to assume that among the Arab public and even among its political leadership there still are thinking men and prominent personalities who accept in their hearts the inevitability of coexistence."

Evidence of Moderation

Actually, neither Bourguiba nor Eshkol could pretend that talk of peace between Israel and her Arab neighbors could have any hope of immediate results.

But, as Eshkol pointed out, they could hope that what Bourguiba had dared to say others might be thinking.

Within the Moslem League itself there appeared evidence of moderation.

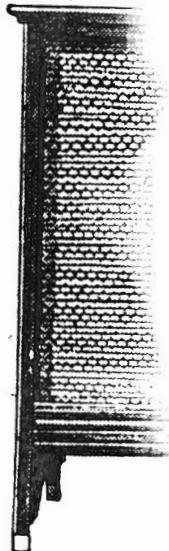

In a meeting of 12 Arab states boycotted by Tunisia, the league rejected any call for recognition of, or coexistence with, Israel.

But it also rejected a demand that Tunisia be expelled from the league and Bourguiba banned from its meetings.

Between the positions of Eshkol and Bourguiba there remained a great gulf.

Bourguiba proposed that a

In Memoriam

LT. JAMES L. ROBINSON lost his life in the Invasion of France on D-Day, June 6, 1944, after having been in the service nearly four years. He was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in Sicily, the Silver Star for action in combat also in Sicily and he was posthumously decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for the heroic deed that cost him his life. This was the charging of a concrete pill box single handed on D-Day in order that his men might advance.

Lt. Robinson who was from Magnolia, was employed by the Lampton Reid Company in Magnolia and by the Brumfield Stores in Pascagoula and Biloxi. He entered the service in 1940, leaving with the National Guards, and after being promoted from Corporal to Sergeant he entered Officers' Training School at Fort Benning, finishing as second lieutenant with the fourth highest honors in the group of 250 men. After a few months he sailed for Africa.

He was married to the former Miss Felina Price and was the father of a young son, James Dudley.

This is the fourteenth and last in a series of newspaper spaces being provided by Brumfield's to honor men of the organization who served their country in armed forces during World War II.

Army Restores Mrs. Moss to Former Post

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—The Army yesterday told Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, a Signal Corps employee suspended after she came under fire from Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), to return to duty Monday pending a final decision in her case.

An Army spokesman said Mrs. Moss would return to her civil service job in the Signal Corps supply section and would remain at work until the Army loyalty board completes its review of all the circumstances.

Mrs. Moss was called before the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee headed by McCarthy after a former woman undercover agent for the FBI testified she knew that an Annie Lee Moss was a Communist, although she was unable to identify her personally.

Denies Being Red

Mrs. Moss denied under oath that she is or ever was a Communist.

She said there were others with the same name in Washington and a question was raised at the hearing as to whether she wasn't a victim of mistaken identity.

Mrs. Moss was transferred to the supply section prior to her suspension Feb. 25. Previous to that time, she had worked for a while in a room with 50 other civilians, all engaged in manning or feeding tape into communications machines.

Under Civil Service regulations the Army was required to restore Mrs. Moss to duty after 30 days of suspension, if no formal charges had been placed against her.

Stevens to Get Review

No such charges have been filed, defense officials said earlier, because the loyalty board had not completed its review. The review eventually will go to Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens for action.

Earlier yesterday, Mrs. Moss went to the Pentagon with her lawyer for conferences with Signal Corps lawyers and representatives of the intelligence branch.

The woman's attorney told reporters his client had been asked to clear up certain points raised in the hearings before the Senate subcommittee. The attorney said the Army officials who talked to Mrs. Moss appeared to be satisfied with her explanations.

Rouen Cathedral 'Reopening' Today

ROUEN, France, March 27 (UPI)—First major service in 10 years will be held in France's "murdered" cathedral here tomorrow.

The Rouen Cathedral, which ranks in grandeur with Notre Dame of Paris and the cathedrals of Chartres and Rheims, was shattered and half leveled in the prolonged bombardments which preceded the invasion of France in 1944.

When liberating troops entered the city in August of that year they found the cathedral half destroyed, supporting buttresses on the south side blown away, and delicate stone tracery of the Renaissance and the sturdier gargoyle of an earlier era littering the ground.

The vast work of restoration started early in 1945.

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham will begin preaching over a network of 20 British telephone lines next week because Harringay Arena cannot accommodate the crowds which wish to hear him.

Graham is conducting his revival meetings nightly, but only 12,000 persons can sit in the great hall where normally sporting events take place. Every night many persons have been turned away. To

Russians Returning 38 U.S. Ships on Loan Since War II

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—Russia agreed yesterday to return to U.S. control at Istanbul 38 small naval craft loaned to the Soviet Union under the World War II lend-lease program.

The 12 torpedo boats and 26 submarine chasers, to be returned in May and June, will be the first ships returned by the Soviets since 1951.

They are part of a group of 186 naval craft which the U.S. demand be returned in September 1948.

State Department officials said the other 148 vessels are still involved in negotiations concerning the time and place of return.

They have been reported by the Russians to be in the Far East.

Officials said they did not know whether any had been employed on the Communist side during the Korean war.

The Soviets previously returned 27 frigates and three icebreakers from 1949 to 1951.

Including the group of 186, the Soviets are estimated to have 555 lend-lease U.S. naval craft, but some are officially assumed here to be unseaworthy or possibly to have been destroyed.

Notice of the demand for return of all the vessels was served on the Soviet government in January 1951.

Aide from naval craft, there are 87 lend-lease merchant vessels still in Soviet hands, ranging from 4,000 to 16,000 gross tons.

Commercial TV Wins In Commons Test Vote

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill's Conservative government won a key parliamentary test last night for its bill to bring commercial television to Britain.

By a vote of 296-269, the House of Commons approved the measure on a second reading. The bill still has a long road to travel, but its ultimate adoption now is regarded as assured. Some areas may have sponsored TV within 10 months.

enable them to hear him, the telephonic connection with many British cities is being arranged. Local clergymen are taking over halls and, after preliminary services, will switch on communications with Harringay.

Saucer Skeptic Sees 'Object'

MIAMI, March 27 (UPI)—A veteran Marine pilot-observer, who said he had always scoffed at persons who reported seeing "flying saucers," yesterday reported seeing one himself.

Capt Dan C. Holland, 33, a decorated veteran of World War II and Korea, said a "round unidentified object" came down "vertically" in front of his plane Thursday, hung in midair about 3,000 feet above him, then disappeared over the horizon at an "extremely high rate of speed."

Holland, of Kooskia, Idaho, was flying Marine Jet F9F photographs planes in formation with four other planes when he saw the object over the Atlantic about 100 miles east of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Holland said the object was shaped "like the planet Saturn." He said it was a "circle-ball affair with a ring around the lower portion. The ball part was white in color and the ring seemed to be like shining gold."

Holland said he did not "have the slightest idea what it was."

"I always thought anyone who said he saw a 'flying saucer' ought to have his head examined," he added.

Bernhard Praises U.S. Plane Output

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands said yesterday that his three-week tour of U.S. Air Force bases and plane production centers "encouraged me to have full confidence that the United States and her European Allies are putting together the world's best air arm."

Prince Bernhard held a news conference at the main production plant of Republic Aircraft Corp. at nearby Farmingdale. The corporation produces F84 Thunderjets and F94 Thunderbreaks—the most modern version of the same plane. The Thunderjet is standard equipment for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization powers.

Prince Bernhard said what impressed him most during his tour of American aircraft plants was the way in which "you people go ahead to develop revolutionary new ideas quickly—without waiting to think out all the details. It makes for remarkable progress."

Teachers Call Strike

PARIS, March 27 (UP)—French school and university teaching unions today called a strike for March 31—second in a month—in opposition to the proposed government education budget.

Stockpiling Increase Ordered by President

WASHINGTON, March 27 (UP)—President Eisenhower yesterday ordered a big new metals and minerals stockpiling program because it is "assumed" foreign supplies would be cut off and some domestic stocks destroyed in event of Russian attack.

Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Fleming, who will head the "long-term" program, said it would be of "considerable magnitude" and would call for more money than the $885,000,000 requested by Mr. Eisenhower for stockpiling in his new budget.

In announcing the program, the White House said it was based on the assumption that "in event of an emergency, some supplies from domestic sources may not be available, in view of the fact that the Soviets now have the capability of attack on the United States."

The program also will take into consideration the fact that, in event of war, supplies will not be available from foreign sources except from a limited group of countries which can be reached almost as easily as parts of the U.S.

Mr. Eisenhower acted on the basis of a preliminary study made by a special Cabinet minerals policy committee, headed by Interior Secretary Douglas McKay.

Senate Views Differ On Defense Progress

WASHINGTON, March 27 (UPI)—Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said yesterday the U.S. is moving forward as rapidly as possible to develop an effective air defense against atomic air attack.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), another member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, called, however, for a stepup in the North American defense program, saying a "tremendous lot remains to be done."

The differing views on the progress of air defense were expressed after the Armed Services Committee heard a highly secret report on the increasingly urgent problem.

The report was written by Robert C. Sprague, a North Adams, Mass., manufacturer whom the committee assigned last autumn to make an "independent appraisal" of the air-defense picture.

Chairman Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said in a statement after the briefing that Sprague's report "strongly support the conclusion that the specific programs now underway combine to constitute a second overall continental defense program."

Russell emphasized, however, that there is "no such thing as an impregnable defense against enemy air attack." "The best we can hope to develop is a defense so costly that no nation would dare to attack," he said.

Kefauver specifically urged that more attention be given to civil defense and to building a radar screen to give adequate notice of an enemy attack.

September job

By TOM DONNELLY

Mississippi Press Business Editor

Strong seasonal factors pushed Mississippi's unemployment rates sharply downward in September.

Unemployment rates in Jackson County and the cities of Pascagoula and Moss Point also dropped in September.

The Mississippi rate for September fell to 5.3 percent, well below the August rate of 6.5 and the year-ago rate of 6.4 percent. This was the lowest rate so far in 1993, and the second lowest rate in the last 15 years.

A relative lack of major layoffs also helped keep the jobless count low. When adjusted for seasonality, the rate showed the same tendency, dropping from 6.3 percent to 5.2 percent.

The Jackson County rate for September fell to 5.1 percent, just under the August rate of 5.6 and the year-ago rate of 5.4 percent.

The Pascagoula rate for September dropped to 5.8 percent, below the August rate of 6.7 and the year-ago rate of 6.8 percent.

The Moss Point rate of 9.8 percent for September was under the August rate of 10.8 and the Biography: Aunt Orma Ruth is one special lady! She raises hogs for food, and makes her own sausage. She has a modern stove but prefers to cook on her wood stove. It tickles me that she can have food in that stove cooking, and not have a hair out of place or a spot on her clothes! Not many of us could manage that. And man, can she cook. It is always some kind of good. She grows flowers and vegetables, and does both really well.

wishes he was home. Calif. if for the birds now.

I found a letter from Ken when he was in Vet. Bless his heart he did have a bad time of it. I couldn't help but cry. I love that little boy, anyway. All your kids are sweet. Mamma had some sweet grandkids. I found a letter from you when you was in the Sanatorium telling me to make you a housecat, which I did. We have had sad some good times and not so good.

Well, Una I think I'd better go see what

GAUTIER GARDEN CLUB

Arbor Day ceremony honors charter member

Submitted by Norma Baker

One of the original charter members of the Gautier Garden Club, Eve Devereaux was this year's recipient of the Arbor Day tree dedication Feb. 13.

The tree was placed near the banks of the pond in front of Gautier High School. Devereaux selected this spot because of her pride in the Junior Civitan Club at the school which she was instrumental in chartering.

Welcoming guests to the ceremony was Beverly Watson, vice president of the garden club. Her pastor, the Rev. James Salter,

A long the muddy waters of Moss Point, and at a time during the 1960s when racial segregation prevailed, a star began to emerge.

Born and reared in Moss Point, former resident Keith Robinson started teaching himself how to play music when he was about 6 or 7 years old.

"I started playing music the moment I figured out how to hold a pair of sticks in my hand," Robinson said.

Robinson not only taught himself to play the drums, but he learned the guitar, bass guitar, piano and vocals. His hard work and dedication during the past 40 years recently presented him with an opportunity of a lifetime on Jan. 18. Robinson performed on stage for "We Are One," the opening celebration at the inauguration of President Barack Obama at the Lincoln Memorial.

In 1977, a year after he graduated from Moss Point High School, Robinson hit the road in hopes of pursuing a musical career. He attended Berklee College of Music in Boston, Mass., where he earned a professional music degree in 1985. A year later, Robinson moved to New York where his career began to take off. Robinson landed his first recording contract as a solo artist with Orpheus Records in 1989. Under the contract, he recorded and co-produced his first debut album, "Perfect Love." His album is classified as Smooth Jazz and proved a total success.

Musician

Ten years later, he dropped a second album in 1998, titled, "Peaceful Flight," which is also considered Smooth Jazz.

Though his past records portray him strictly as a Smooth Jazz artist, Robinson has written everything from jazz, rock, funk, rap, gospel and country music.

"I'm sure my love for all genres of music comes from the countless hours I spent listening to the radio growing up," Robinson said. "I would sit there with a pair of drumsticks in my hands, or my bass or lead guitar, and I would fantasize about how it would feel to be in all of the different bands."

Robinson rose to success not as a member of a band, but as a solo and freelance musician who has performed with more than 22 famous artists. They included Earth Wind & Fire; Al Green; Stevie Wonder; Keith Sweat, at Madison Square Garden; Vanessa Williams, at Carnegie Hall; Garth Brooks; John Mellencamp; James Taylor; Mary J. Blige; Beyoncé; John Legend; Usher; Queen Latifah; Jon Bon Jovi; and The Temptations.

Robinson has been featured on television programs such as "The Tonight Show," "David Letterman," BET and MTV.

Robinson was first asked to play at the 2009 Presidential Inauguration by the Kennedy Center Committee and one of the musical directors, Rob Mathes. Mathes is a close friend to Robinson and they perform together each year at The Kennedy Center Honors. They have been playing in Vanessa Williams' band together for more than 10 years.

"My initial response to the request should have been caught on tape," Robinson said. "I had the biggest smile on my face; I immediately felt the multitude of what was happening."

Robinson speaks of his experience performing at the inauguration as life changing and unforgettable.

"There I stood, facing the statue of Abraham Lincoln thinking, this is the very spot where Dr. Martin Luther King once gave his famous 'I Have a Dream' speech to thousands," Robinson said. "Then it happened, they announced (over the loud speaker) the new president of the United States, the first lady, the vice president, and his wife. From that moment on, I felt like I was dreaming."

That, for the first time in his life, he shook hands with a United States president is what stands out to him most about that day, he said. Robinson said President Obama cordially thanked him for attending the ceremony.

"It was so beautiful and it brought everything full circle for me and my family," Robinson said. "I felt that I was given a chance to represent my family and all the people standing there before me."

Since the inauguration performance, Robinson said he plays music with a newfound sense of pride.

"As a result of my experience, I'm playing music in a different way," Robinson said. "Looking back on the millions that gathered in front of me, all nationalities for one cause, I am proud of my country and I am honored to be a part of history."

In the midst of preparing for a third album — which he is releasing himself — Robinson is jumping back on tour with Vanessa Williams' band, kicking things off at the Tropicana Casino in Atlantic City on May 8 and 9. Robinson said his music has evolved since the release of his last two CDs.

"These days, my music seems to be more about the things that affected me when I was growing up in Moss Point as well as my present life," he said.

In addition to touring with Vanessa Williams' band, Robinson can be seen doing spot dates opening for Seal with new artist Peter Cincotti. Cincotti played on tour in Europe last year with Robinson. The two appeared as guests on The View just three weeks ago.
